The road from Barre to the Gulf in Williamstown and so on down through Brookfield is a very good road for automobiles, as shown by the number driving over it. On this same road are many curves; there are also numerous teams traveling, a large number of them being driven by ladies. Now if the driver of the motor carriages would blow the horn when approaching a curve or bend in the road it would give the teams a little warning and might save a serious fright or avert an accident.

GRAND PARADE OF VETERANS

Over 25,000 Men Were In Line

BOSTON'S FINE RECEPTION

Feature of Day's Programme Was the Living Flag of School Children.

Boston, Aug. 16.—Today, probably for the last time, the streets of Boston resounded with the tread of the Grand Army of the Republic, before many years to vanish from the earth, and the north and the south, the east and the west gathered to see the crowning event of the last Grand Army encampment in the home where liberty was born and nurtured. Between thousands of fluttering flags and miles of bunting, through streets literally packed with sympathetic spectators, whose moist eyes attested their love and gratitude, marched over 25,000 of that great army of men who nearly half a century ago fought to preserve the union.

Out of consideration for the advanced years of the veterans the route was only two miles long, less than half as long as that over which the old soldier marched when the last encampment was held here fourteen years ago. The ranks were thinner, the shoulders more bent, the steps feebler, but the same warm greeting, the same cheers, the same pathetic enthusiasm were shown as when the old men were nearer the prime of life.

The weather at 10 o'clock when Commander-in-chief Black gave the signal which set the parade in motion, was ideal, the sun being bright and the temperature moderate. The conditions were just right for marching. There were no other organizations other than the members of the Grand Army in the column, but the veterans of the Civil War, who marched in yesterday's procession, also participated in today's. Departments from every state in the union were in line, Kinsley Post of the city acting as escort to Commander Black who headed the column. The rear was brought up by a solid phalanx of 6,000 men, the hosts of the occasion from the Departments of Massachusetts.

Between three and four hours were occupied in passing a given point. Gov. Bates reviewed the column at the State House and Mayor Collins at the City Hall. Commander-in-chief reviewed it just before ranks were broken at Park square. Along the route were eight huge grandstands provided for visitors, and occupied by disabled veterans, their wives, members of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans, army nurses, Ladies of the G. A. R. and other organizations.

The most picturesque sight along the route was the living flag composed of 2,000 school children who sang patriotic songs as the veterans passed.

WILL REMAIN IN LEAGUE

Plattsburg Gets a New Lease of Life

EXPENSES GUARANTEED

"Buck" Whittemore, Formerly Umpire, Will Manage the Team Hereafter.

Plattsburg will stay in the Northern league. This was decided at a meeting yesterday afternoon and last evening when the association was reorganized. All scheduled and postponed games will be played, two of the business men of that city having guaranteed all the expenses of the team for the remaining three weeks of the season.

The new organization is made up as follows—president, E. R. Weir; vice president and treasurer, O. B. Weir; secretary, C. W. Smith; manager and catcher, A. H. Whittemore; captain, Edward Daley. The Messrs. Weir are owners of the Plattsburg Shirt factory. They have guaranteed $1,300 for the expenses of the team, and other subscriptions amount to $500. Scanlon, the pitcher, and Stroth, the catcher have left the team.

A Plattsburg despatch to the Burlington Free Press this morning says: "Buck Whittemore worked out this afternoon; his wing is in good shape and his eye all right. The discourteous treatment he received at the hands of the Rutland team led to his resignation from the Northern League staff of umpires and when the members of the local association learned this, they immediately selected him for the manager of the reorganized Plattsburg team. Buck is the famous Malone backstop, who used to catch Washburn and Mike Lynch."

At the meeting of the Plattsburg team directors Sunday the following resolution was adopted.

"Owing to the fact that we are unable to arrange for the postponed games with other clubs in this league within reasonable time, and it is understood that some of the players intend to leave, it is the sense of the meeting that we disband this day, and the manager is hereby instructed to notify all members of this team that their services are no longer required. And the manager is hereby instructed to make settlement at once with the players, and he is further instructed to notify the different teams that Plattsburg has disbanded this day, and will play no more games in this league."

WASHINGTON COUNTY RALLIES

P. W. Clement at Barre Aug. 22 and Montpelier Aug. 23.

The rallies which are already fixed in Washington County are as follows: Northfield, Thursday evening the 18th, Hon. J. L. Martin and Hon. Fred G. Fleetwood; Watford, Friday afternoon at 1.30 p. m., Hon. W. P. Dillingham and Hon. J. E. Cushman; Monday evening the 22nd at Barre, Hon. P. W. Clement and Congressman Campbell of Kansas; Montpelier, Tuesday evening the 23rd, Hon. P. W. Clement and Hon. H. H. Powers; Friday evening the 26th at Waterbury Center, Hon. James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, and Hon. Kittredge Haskins, Member of Congress. The county rally for the campaign will be held at Montpelier in the afternoon of Friday the 26th. Secretary Taft will be the leading speaker of the occasion but there will be present Congressman Foster, Senator Dillingham and other excellent speakers and if the day is pleasant it will be an outdoor rally; but if it is stormy provisions are made to occupy both the Opera house and the Armory with good speaking at each.

Another committee was elected from the floor to question the men whose names had been presented for representative and to report at the next meeting. The committee is Dr. L. W. Hanson, Earl Lewis and E. G. Wells. The caucus then adjourned until Friday night of this week.

Dr. L. W. Hanson spoke at some length at opening of the caucus on the prospects of the party and the work that is before it. He believed if there was ever a time when the Prohibition party ought to vote its strongest it is now. We have been told that the Republicans party has stood for prohibition but you know it does not now, and it has been truthfully said that prohibition at its worst is even better than high license at its best. The overseer of the poor has said that the expense for the city poor will be double this year what they were in any previous year, and I have also been told by men who are engaged in collecting small bills around the city that there are 200 families in the city where he could once collect $10 the first time he called but now he has to go several times to get it all.

This is not a trivial matter. The men who are voting for Prohibition are earnest and steadfast in their belief for the right. You are not here for the purpose of beating some party but because you believe that there is a great principle involved. I know that you would vote prohibition if you had to stand alone. I for one would rather vote for something I believed to be right and not get it than to vote for something I did not believe in and get it. I believe that is the right principle for everybody to follow. I have been approached by a Republican just recently who said that the members of the Prohibition party came largely from the Republican ranks and if you put up a candidate you will split the Republican party and only help the Democrats to elect. I told that man 'I can get just as drunk if I wish on Republican whiskey as I can on Democratic whiskey. I propose to put up a candidate of our own party.' And I also said to the man that I would rather see G. Herbert Pape, a high license man—we know how he stands—go to Montpelier this fall as representative than any man I have heard mentioned so far this year outside of the Prohibition party.

In speaking of the Anti-Saloon League Mr. Hanson said that there is nothing that has hurt the Prohibition party so much as the Anti-Saloon League.

The Charles Templeton home on Currier Park, in Barre, also a six-room cottage on Elmwood avenue and a five-room cottage on Foster street. This property must be sold at once to close the Templeton estate. Apply to R. S. Currier, Administrator.

DIDN'T AGREE ON CANDIDATE

Local Prohibitionists Held Caucus

FOR A REPRESENTATIVE

Fred Perrin in Lead at Finish—Postponed Caucus Will Be Held Friday Evening.

The Prohibition party held their caucus in the Averill block at 7.30 o'clock last evening for the purpose of nominating a representative to the general assembly and fifteen candidates for justices of the peace and to elect a city committee. Fred L. Page, chairman of the city committee, read the call and was elected chairman of the caucus and Wallace Cheever was made secretary.

The nominating of a representative was first taken up. Dr. L. W. Hanson made a motion that they cast an informal ballot to bring before the caucus different names that they might be voted for saying that if there was ever a caucus got together without having a slate made up before hand this case was one. The motion was carried and on the first ballot the following names were presented: Fred Perrin 4, Dr. L. W. Hanson 3, George Bassett 2, Harry Patterson 1, Fred L. Page, 2, Dr. O. G. Stickney 1, Rev. R. F. Lowe, 1, and some others who had one vote.

After considerable discussion on how the men whose names had been presented stood in regard to the Prohibition platform, another informal ballot was taken which gave Mr. Perrin 9, Dr. Hanson 3, Mr. Bassett 3 and several names received one vote. Dr. Hanson stated that he thought that it was not quite clear in the minds of those present who they wanted to vote for or felt safe in presenting as a candidate for nomination and he would make a motion that the caucus adjourn till Friday night so that the men whose names had been presented could be questioned on how they stood.

Before this motion was seconded S. H. Barnes moved that a committee of three be appointed to bring in at the next meeting a list of candidates for justices of the peace and for the city committee. The motion was carried and the following committee was appointed by the chair: E. G. Wells, Earl Lewis and R. H. Watkins. Dr. Hanson advised that this committee confer with the Democrats and Republicans and see if an equal distribution of the justices could be made in the three parties.

Another committee was elected from the floor to question the men whose names had been presented for representative and to report at the next meeting. The committee is Dr. L. W. Hanson, Earl Lewis and E. G. Wells. The caucus then adjourned until Friday night of this week.

Dr. L. W. Hanson spoke at some length at opening of the caucus on the prospects of the party and the work that is before it. He believed if there was ever a time when the Prohibition party ought to vote its strongest it is now.
